

SATRA / Leather Wise Ltd

Intensive leather courses 2009

SATRA is the world's leading research and technology centre of its kind and employs more than 180 scientific, technical and support staff in the UK and China.

Leather Wise provides problem solving, arbitration and training on all aspects of leather and leather products.

Courses to be held on:

Wednesday & Thursday 18th & 19th March
Wednesday & Thursday 17th & 18th June
Wednesday & Thursday 21st & 22nd October

The first day will be hosted by Leather Wise in Northampton and the second day by SATRA at Wyndham Way in Kettering.

The course is aimed at manufacturers, sourcing companies and retailers of all types of footwear, leathersgoods, garments, accessories and upholstery. It is ideal for newly appointed, as well as, more experienced technologists and buyers.

Day 1: Northampton

Understanding, making and using leather:

- Where does it all begin - sourcing from farm to tanner?
- Why do we inherit problems?
- Why do we make leather from cowhide (...and other animals)?
- Introduction to leathermaking process
- Visit to the Tannery at the British School of Leather Technology.

Day 2: Kettering

Selection and use of leather:

- Selection, grading and measurement
- Fitness for purpose - introducing the use of specifications
- Chemical testing and environmental issues
- Physical testing and colour fastness
- Tour of SATRA facilities and laboratories.

Leather Wise and SATRA staff will be available on both days for combined discussions and questions. Each delegate will receive course material and a leather identification kit to take away.

Cost per person:

SATRA members	£315
Non-members	£345
